

MARK STECK LURES & BAITs

Lures

"Mark Steck lures and baits have evolved from various sources and icons of the industry. Some have come from my own 45 years of intense trapping. I use ingredients that come from near and far. I want the best of the best for my use and yours, too. Last fall on a western trapping trip, all my lures and baits came from the very same stock our customers get. It's the way it always has been and always will be. I want you to have the same success on the line that I do." - Mark Steck

The Purest Ingredients On The Market!

Fox, Coyote, Beaver, Mink, Raccoon, Muskrat, in fact all critters find our baits and lures irresistible. No fillers here! When you buy the raw ingredients or the pre-made baits, lures, oils or urines from DakotaLine, you are buying the best product with the best ingredients available!

In the trapping world, lure is the term we use to describe scents that attract furbearers to a trap set. Lure is a critical component of many traplines, and can often play a key role in a trapper's success. Most trappers agree that a quality lure is a good investment that pays for itself in added dollars in the fur check. When you buy ingredients from DakotaLine, you are buying the best ingredients available!

At its most basic level, there are three main types of lures: gland lures, food lures and call lures. Gland lures use animal glands as the primary attractant to get critters to the set. Glands are usually specific to the animal being targeted (for instance, coyote glands would be used in a lure to attract other coyotes), and they can trigger a variety of responses in animals.

Food lures attract animals to a set based on feeding instinct. In other words, they smell like food items that appeal to an animal's hunger. In predator trapping, a formulated bait is often used instead of a food lure, but sometimes they are used in combination, with lures typically incorporating a fish or meat component. Food lures for muskrat and beaver, on the other hand, would include a plant or fruit based attractant.

Call lures can use a variety of ingredients, but their main purpose is to get an animal to the set, often from a long distance. The more common long distance calls include skunk essence, which doesn't appeal to an instinct that either a gland or food lure would – it simply signals to an animal that something is going on at the set, and they approach to investigate.

And at the risk of further complicating things, these three types of lures can be used in different combinations for specific lure formulas. When you buy formulated lures or baits, or the raw ingredients to make them from DakotaLine, you are buying the best ingredients available!.

Dirt Roads -Coyote Gland Lure –Pure cut and aged coyote glands made into a thick paste. Designed to bring out territorial instincts in the local coyote population.

Canine Kicker – We take Ultra clean urine and add a musk that is irresistible to canines. We also add a base that allows this lure to work in very cold temperatures.

Coon Kicker – I originally learned of this formula from a North Dakota trapper in the late 1990's. I got amazing results the first season I tried it. You can see the results first hand on our Running Hard with the Grizz video. The day we filmed, I had 61 coon, all caught on Kicker.

Dirt Roads -Coyote Gland Lure –Pure cut and aged coyote glands made into a thick paste. Designed to bring out territorial instincts in the local coyote population.

Drifter's Fate - Predator Lure – A coyote, fox, and cat predator lure made from the finest glands and musk money can buy.

Freight Train LDC – Skunk and more will fill your hollows and draws with a powerful and lasting fragrance no reasonable mammal can pass up. Good on canines, cats, and of course Fisher and Martin. Let it roll through your best trapping grounds.

Harding County - Fox Gland Lure – Made from quality aged glands and additives to create a "Foxy" smell. Good all season long.

Lethal Dose Predator Lure – Guess what's in this? You won't. Lethal Dose is an artistic blend of many meats, glands, and oils, It was tested by five trappers in the fall of 2016. The success was excellent. Data and trail cams confirmed we had what we wanted.
"I am positive you will assign Leathal Dose a place in your lure bucket." - Mark Steck

Retch'n Gretchen Predator Lure - "Skunk essence? YES, but so much more. Long range musky and close range intense. Excellent on coyote, fox, badger, coon, bobcat, marten, and fisher. I first used this lure formulation in 1983 on my commercial canine line in western South Dakota. From mid-October through early December it was my go to lure." - Mark

Sweet Marie Beaver Lure - A blend of northern castors that shout "I'm moving into your territory." We guarantee results or we'll refund your money. Give this a try on your canine line, you'll be in for a surprise.

Two Riders - A blend of high grade musks and oils with outstanding calling attributes. Formulated for coyotes, fox, and bobcats.

Watchtower Predator Lure - Combines three significant ingredients that all predators pursue. There is simply no other lure out there to compare Watchtower with. Strong, enticing, natural, and made to rock on your trapline.

Baits

Alaskan Salmon Spread - Mink, Coon, Bear

A sticky lure/bait made from Alaskan Salmon. A fishy aroma that stays where you put it . Very edible and attractive to coon, mink, and bear.

Growler Bob

When first formulated, my dog Bob, growled when working with this bait. It's proven deadly on my traplines in warm and cold weather.

Half Horse/Half Devil Predator Bait

Horse meat has been a staple for government trappers going back to the 1930's. Half Horse/Half Devil packs a powerful punch. With the equine base, the additional ingredients are "in the details." The track record of this formulation is second to none.

Highwater Muskrat Lure/Bait

A Sticky smear type lure. We formulated this so it stays put (even though some rain) and does not evaporate. "I've taken over 350 rats in one check using Highwater. It works!" - Mark Steck

Highway 61 Predator Bait

Do you want canines to visit your sets or work for your sets? A desirable bait with calling attributes. Highway 61 has both. A complex formula that turns them in their tracks.

Hurricane Paste Bait - Muskrat, Coon, Beaver

Powerful, sweet, and sticky. A sinus clearing bait that is deadly on coon and muskrats. Execlent on beaver too!

Laughing Lady

Coon lure/bait. Passed on to me from a Pennsylvania lure maker. Sticks to about anything and holds up to rain and cold weather. Stays where you put it unless hauled off by a coon. Put on a stick, bridge abutment, DP, or anything handy. Excellent on muskrat too!

Pipe Paste

Meat based and very sticky. Perfect for elbow sets and other pipe related sets. Also a great smear bait for abutments and bridge wall. Used in the Pipe Trapping video made by Mark Steck.

Wretched Heart Predator Bait

Predators love this bait. A Bobcat meat base with additional ingredients no sane predator will ignore.
